

William A. Hughes, Partner, Whyte Hirschboeck Dudek

Bill Hughes is a partner of the law firm of Whyte Hirschboeck Dudek, and chairs the Firm's Government Contract practice. Bill has extensive experience in the award, protest, and litigation of competitively bid and publicly awarded contracts. He counsels clients on all aspects of government contracts including audits, bids, contract negotiations and awards, set asides, changes, costs, claims, intellectual property rights, terminations and disputes. He has extensive experience with the application and interpretation of the Federal Acquisition Regulations. He also represents clients on protests before the Government Accountability Office and contract disputes before the various boards of contract appeals and the U.S. Court of Federal Claims. In addition, Bill counsels clients on a variety of business and corporate matters.

Prior to joining WHD, Bill was an attorney for the U.S. Air Force at the Air Force Contract Law Center where he served as senior legal counsel for a number of major procurement programs and represented the Government on bid protests before the Government Accountability Office and contract disputes before the Armed Services Board of Contract Appeals. He is a graduate of the United States Air Force Academy and Marquette University Law School (Magna Cum Laude). He also has a Masters of Law in Government Procurement from George Washington University (with highest honors). He is the founder and Past President of Wisconsin Chapter of the National Contract Management Association. He serves as a member of the Board of Directors and as General Counsel for the Wisconsin Procurement Institute and as a member of the Board of Directors of the Illinois/Wisconsin Chapter of the National Defense Industrial Association.
